I am pleased to announce the appointment of Margo L. Stevens to the position of Assistant Chief Counsel (Disclosure & Privacy Law), Office of the Associate Chief Counsel (Procedure & Administration), effective November 4, 2001.

The Assistant Chief Counsel (Disclosure & Privacy Law) is responsible for all legal services relating to the disclosure of IRS and Chief Counsel records and information. Ms. Stevens is responsible for administering and evaluating the Office's disclosure policies and procedures, and providing technical assistance to other components of the Chief Counsel and IRS in handling disclosure matters and making disclosure determinations.

Ms. Stevens received her J.D. from the George Washington University National Law Center in 1979. She began her career with the Office of Chief Counsel that same year as a docket attorney in the (then named) Disclosure Litigation function in the National Office. After serving as an Assistant Branch Chief in that office from 1982 to 1983, Ms. Stevens was then promoted to serve as an Executive Assistant to the Director, a position she held for ten years. In 1993, Ms. Stevens moved to a Branch Chief position, from which she was appointed, in 1996, to her previous position as Deputy Assistant Chief Counsel.

I know you will join me in extending congratulations to Ms. Stevens on her selection for this position.

/s/ RICHARD W. SKILLMAN Acting Chief Counsel
