Purpose

A corporation files Form 4876-A to elect to be treated as an interest charge domestic international sales corporation (IC-DISC).

Once the election is made, it remains in effect until terminated or revoked. It applies to each person who owns stock in the corporation while the election is in effect.

What Is an IC-DISC

An IC-DISC is a U.S. corporation that meets certain conditions regarding its organization and international sales and that elects to be treated as an IC-DISC. The corporation must be organized under the laws of a state or the District of Columbia and meet the following tests:

- At least 95% of its gross receipts during the tax year are qualified export receipts.
- At the end of the tax year, the adjusted basis of its qualified export assets is at least 95% of the sum of the adjusted basis of all its assets.
- It has one class of stock, and its outstanding stock has a par value of at least $2,500 on each day of the tax year (or, for a new corporation, on the last day for electing IC-DISC treatment and on each succeeding day).
- It keeps separate books and records.
- Its tax year must conform to the tax year of the principal shareholder who has the highest percentage of voting power. If two or more shareholders have the highest percentage of voting power, the IC-DISC's tax year may be the same as that of any of those shareholders. (See section 441(h) for additional information.)
- Its election to be treated as an IC-DISC is in effect.

See section 992 and the related regulations for details. Also see section 993 and its related regulations for definitions of qualified export receipts and qualified export assets.

Ineligible Organizations.—S corporations, certain financial institutions and other corporations listed in section 992(d) are not eligible for IC-DISC treatment.

When To File

A corporation electing to be treated as an IC-DISC for its first tax year should complete and file Form 4876-A within 90 days after the beginning of such tax year. A corporation electing to be treated as an IC-DISC for any tax year that is not its first tax year must make the election during the 90-day period immediately preceding the first day of that tax year.

For the election to be valid, all the corporation's shareholders, as of the first day of the tax year the election is to take effect, must consent to it.

Where To File

File Form 4876-A with the IRS Service Center where the corporation will file its annual return, Form 1120-IC-DISC, Interest Charge Domestic International Sales Corporation Return.

Specific Instructions

Part I

Address.—Include the suite, room, or other unit number after the street address. If the Post Office does not deliver mail to the street address, show the P.O. box number instead of the street address.

Item B—Business classification.—See the instructions to Form 1120 or Form 1120-IC-DISC for the list of Codes for Principal Business Activity and Principal Product or Service. Enter the corporation's business code number, principal business activity, and principal product or service.

Item C—Tax year change.—If a corporation electing to be an IC-DISC has to change its tax year to conform to the tax year of its principal shareholder to meet the requirements of section 441(h), the corporation does not need IRS consent to make the change. A tax year change by a principal shareholder or a subsequent change by the corporation to meet the tax year requirements of section 441(h) may require IRS consent. See section 442 and the regulations under sections 441, 442, and 921 for more information.

Column I—Identifying number.—The identifying number for an individual is the social security number. For all others it is the employer identification number.

Signature.—Form 4876-A must be signed by the president, vice president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, chief accounting officer, or other officer (such as tax officer) authorized to sign for the corporation.

Part II

Shareholders' Consent Statement.—An election for IC-DISC treatment will be valid only if all shareholders sign either the consent statement in Part II or a separate statement as described below. Several shareholders may combine their consents in one statement.

If a husband and wife jointly own the stock or the income from it, both must sign the consent. If tenants in common, joint tenants, or tenants by the entirety own the stock, each person must sign. The legal guardian should sign for a minor; if none has been appointed, the natural guardian should sign.

The executor or administrator should sign for an estate, and the trustee should sign for a trust. If the estate or trust has more than one executor, administrator, or trustee, any of them who is authorized to file the returns may sign the consent. For a corporation or partnership, an officer or partner who is authorized to sign the other returns may sign the consent for the IC-DISC election.

A foreign person's consent may be signed by any individual who would be authorized to sign if the person were a U.S. person.

Extension.—Normally, the consents must be attached to Form 4876-A. If you establish reasonable cause for not filing a consent on time, you may file the consent within an extended period granted by an Internal Revenue Service Center. File the consents with the same service center where you filed Form 4876-A.

If shares are transferred before a consent is filed, the transferee shareholder may consent to the IC-DISC election as long as the transfer occurs and the consent is filed within the first 90 days of the tax year. The service center may grant an extension beyond that date. If the transfer takes place more than 90 days after the tax year began, an extension can be granted only if the transferor was eligible for one.

Separate statement.—Any shareholder who does not sign the consent in Part II of Form 4876-A must sign a separate consent statement for the election to be valid. The statement must say: "I, (shareholder's name), a shareholder of (corporation's name) consent to the election of (corporation's name) to be treated as an IC-DISC. The consent so made by me is irrevocable and is binding on all transferees of my shares in (corporation's name)."

In addition, the statement must show (1) the names, addresses, and identification numbers of both the corporation and the shareholder; (2) the number of shares the shareholder owned (or expects to own) at the beginning of the tax year the election takes effect; and (3) the number of shares the shareholder owns when making the consent.

For transferred stock, also show the name and address of the person who held the shares at the beginning of the tax year and the number of shares to which this consent applies.

Supplemental Form 4876-A.—If, between the date the election is filed and the date it takes effect, the corporation issues more shares of stock or the share ownership changes, it must file a supplemental Form 4876-A, with "SUPPLEMENTAL" written across the top of the form. The form must be filed within the first 90 days of the tax year the election takes effect.

On the supplemental form, include all the information from the earlier form except for the list of owners contained in Parts I and II. Report only the owners of the new or additional shares in Part I, and in Part II obtain their consents only. Each new shareholder or holder of additional shares must consent to the IC-DISC election for the Supplemental Form 4876-A to be valid.
